

PDMSA announces the 2014 Standard Bank SikuVile Journalism Award winners

21 May 2014, Johannesburg – In recognising excellence in journalism, Print and Digital Media South Africa (PDMSA) today announced the 2014 Standard Bank SikuVile Journalism Award winners.

Speaking on the quality of the winning submissions, Paula Fray, convener of the group of judges, said, “All the winners are assets to the journalism industry. Their work displayed passion and substantial editorial experience. They have understood the mind and heart of their audience.”

This year, winners were selected from 683 submissions across 14 award categories. A large portion of submissions received were from ‘Feature Writing’, with 120 entries, 82 entries in Hard News, and 78 entries in ‘News Photography’.

Fray noted the challenge of selecting winners: “The 2014 award submissions were competitive and have improved year on year. We are delighted that both the publications and journalists continue to see value in being crowned as Standard Bank SikuVile award winners.”

Ingrid Louw, PDMSA Chief Executive commented, “We were very pleased with this year’s entries. The submissions received revealed the journalists’ passion and commitment to their industry, making both their industry and respective publications proud. On behalf of PDMSA, I would like to congratulate every single one of them on their achievement. “

Louw extended her gratitude to the sponsor of the awards, Standard Bank, adding: “Our partnership continues to ensure that our journalists carry on playing their role in our democracy.”
